GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

BULLS TRIUMPHANT IN THE WHEAT MARKET-CORN AND PROVISIONS RIGHER.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.] Chicago, Rl., Jan. 24, 1891.—The bulls triumphed again to-day, though the grain market was weak during the today, though the grain market was weak during the early hours. New York and St. Louis are strongly bullish, and their operations in this market have been very heavy. May wheat at the close was about 2½c. higher than at the carresponding time yesterday. Corn gained ½c., cate ½c. and even provisions pleked up and closed a little over yesterday's closing quotations.

The news of the fux, apart from the firmness of the English market and the strong statistical position, which does not change, was in the main bearish; but the statisticians are beginning to have confirmation in the movement of the crop, of the limited proportions and diminishing capacity were at the contract of the crop, of the limited proportions and diminishing capacity rates were at the contract of the crop, of the limited proportions and diminishing capacity rates were at the statisticians are beginning to have confirmation in the shorts were in a tight place, but could do nothing. The English trade is apparently making up to the fact that France has not only been a heavy buyer of eargoes off coast and passage for the past two months, but has also secured freight and cargoes for shipment of California wheat running forward to the month of June.

The corn market was rather dull and the fluctuations narrow until wheat bogan to show such phenomenal signs of strength, when it also picked up and followed slowly and with somewhat shorter strikes the course of the other careais, May opened at 51½c. and 15½c. after ad heavy had been a heavy period, and at active domining price 52½c. ultimately took place, with the closing price 52½c.
